Oregon Festival of American Music 2010

The Boys

based on Wm. Shakespeare’s "Comedy of Errors"

August 7, 2 pm matinée

Dr. Steve Jung, Practitioners Association. Our ODS, Eyemed, Northwest

Eugene Eyewear

"Buzzing"

#OUTURE

Whistling

Rodgers & Harts '38

screwed

Final Performances!

Music by Richard Rodgers
Lyrics by Loren Hart

Based on W.S. Shakespeare’s "Comedy of Errors"

August 6, 7:30 pm
August 7, 7:30 pm

The Shedd Theater Box Office: 541-434-7000

Information & box office at thedoor.com

Continued from Page 41

It’s even taken their their highest school class. "This year’s senior class had a brainstorming session and voted unanimously that all the bright sparks in their class get out on a stage to reenact the famous football game," Sales said.

The school district officials set aside the original idea of having all the senior class members in the band. Instead, the band will play the first half of the game with the football team on the field.

"That’s what I detest about announcing things without consulting the students," Sales said. "I try to avoid that kind of thing, but it happened this time."

It’s a new approach for the school district, which has been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.

"I’ve been criticized for not involving students in decisions that affect them," Sales said. "I think it’s important to involve students in decisions that affect them."

The school district officials have been criticized in the past for not involving students in decisions that affect their lives.